TEACHER'S GUIDE — Social Media Marketing

NtandoMods Instructor Resource | Confidential +263 77 162 9199

TEACHING SOCIAL MEDIA TO SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS

Students already USE social media personally. Your job is to shift their mindset from personal user to business tool user.

Opening Activity (Day 1): Ask: “Who has a Facebook account?” (most hands go up) Ask: “Who has used Facebook to SELL something?” (fewer hands) Ask: “Who has made money from social media?” (even fewer) > “By the end of this course, all three hands should be yours.”

KEY TEACHING APPROACHES

Show Real Zimbabwe Business Examples

- Find 5 successful Zimbabwean businesses on Facebook before the course
- Show their pages: what they post, how they engage, their follower count
- Ask students: “What are they doing right? What could be better?”

Canva Teaching (Critical)

- Create a Canva account on the training computer/phone in advance

- First lesson: just explore. No pressure to create anything perfect.
- Second lesson: follow a template. Customise colours and text only.
- Third lesson: design from scratch.

The “Before and After” Activity

WEEK-BY-WEEK NOTES

Week 1 — Platform Setup

- Every student MUST leave Week 1 with a Facebook Business Page and Instagram Business account
- Don’t move to content until setup is complete
- Profile photo and cover photo must be set before leaving Day 1

Week 2 — Content

- Students create actual content for their real or fictional business
- Run a class “content critique” — students show their posts, class gives feedback
- Teach the 3-2-1 content rule visually with a calendar

Week 3 — Growth & Ads

- If budget allows, run ONE $2 Facebook boost as a class demonstration
 - Show live insights from a page — the numbers make it real
 - End with the “negative review” role play — this always generates great discussion
